WITH SPECIAL PEOPLE

In the past, the annual has always been dedicated to one person. This year the staff decided the yearbook should be dedicated to the people without whom there would be no Clovis High School. The 1978-1979 Plainsman Staff proudly dedicates this year's annual to YOU, The Student Body of CHS.

WITH SPECIAL ISSUES

Clovis High students were faced with several issues during the 1978-79 school year. These issues could have alienated the students from the community, but concerned students got involved and worked with the Clovis City Commission to clear up the problems.

The most controversial issue involved the traffic and litter problems on Main Street. During the month of September, officers of the Clovis Police Department began stopping and issuing citations to people who were either stopped in an intersection and blocking cross traffic or were impeding the flow of traffic by driving down Main side by side at a slow rate of speed. The ordinances controlling these two infractions had been on the books for a long time, but the policemen started to issue the citations because the adult population of Clovis was beginning to complain about the virtual traffic standstill on Main Street.

In a talk with the CHS Student Council, Sen. Caleb Chandler, CPD Chief of Detectives, said the rate of complaints had increased to such a point that the CPD had to do something about the problem. Chandler emphasized that CHS students were not the main source of the problem. Many of the people contributing to the problem were either out of school or were young people from the surrounding area.

In an attempt to deal with the litter problem, the Clovis City Commission had drafted a new ordinance which gave the judge the discretion to sentence a person to having clean up a certain part of Main Street or some other part of the city if they were found guilty of littering. Continual complaints from Main Street businessmen brought about this ordinance, Chandler explained.

Sen. Chandler urged the students to come up with some alternate ideas for solving the problems on Main Street. "We would rather spend our time doing something more useful than patrolling Main Street, but until the problem is gone it's our only choice," Chandler said.

Another issue that CHS students encountered had to do with the Booster Club's spirit cannon. People living in the vicinity of Leon Williams Football Stadium began petitioning against the cannon on the grounds that its loud report disturbed the peace. The Clovis City Commission considered outlawing the cannon altogether, but because students and adults convinced the commissioners of the cannon's importance to school spirit, the commission voted to limit the cannon's use. The commission decided the cannon could be fired only after touchdowns and the charge had to have a reduced explosive load.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society (NHS) is a society to encourage academic excellence. To be inducted as a member into the Honor Society a student must have a 3.5 grade point average at the end of his junior year and demonstrate ability in leadership, service, and character.

The Honor Society is sponsored by Mr. Farris, Mr. McCray, Mr. McDaniel, Mrs. Razura, Mrs. McKinney, and Mrs. Balfanz.

The officers for 1978-79 were Julie Perich, president; Nelson Franse, vice-president; James Hussey, corresponding secretary; Leesa McKinney, recording secretary; Patty Watson, treasurer.

During the year the Honor Society did several things. They sponsored disco dances at the YRB, had the installation of new members in April, and had a banquet for all the senior members near the end of the year.

BOYS AND GIRLS STATE

In the '78 - '79 school year the boy staters were sponsored by the American Legion and the girl staters were sponsored by the American Legion Auxillary.

This event is a "government in action" program at three levels. The students organize city, county, and state governments, within their own peer groups. They elect political leaders from within their organization, who are best qualified to represent their organized student government. Both the boys and girls state was held in the summer of '78 - '79 for seven days at the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, New Mexico. It is considered an honor to be selected for this program because of the strong leadership qualities each student must represent.

The two girls chosen as AAUW girl of the month had to perform several duties. Being chosen AAUW girls of the month, the student had to promise that she had no plans for marriage for a year. She had to take a picture of herself, accompanied by a list of activities, to the Clovis News Journal. She also had to attend monthly AAUW meeting with her mother. AAUW girls: 1. Trecia Bunce; 2. BOSTON

To select the Plainsman nominees, all students nominate people from their own class.

To have their names placed on the ballot, the nominees must have a 2.5 grade average, be nominated by at least three homerooms, and have no history of any major disciplinary problems.

After the nominees are selected, a ballot is made, and each Sophomore and Junior votes on four nominees (two boys and two girls) in their respective classes. The Seniors vote on six nominees.

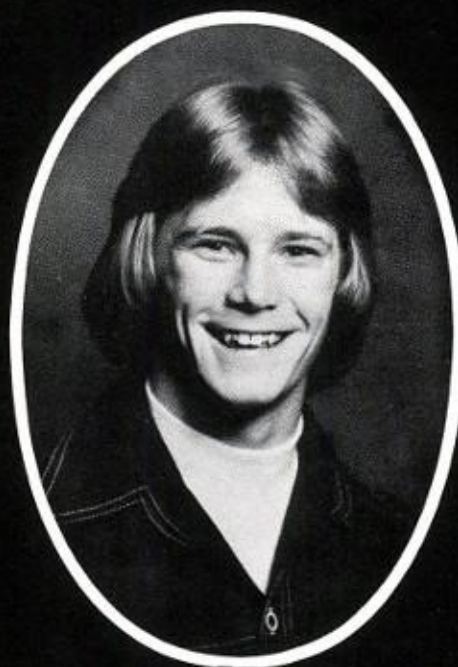

The top three Senior couples, the top two Junior couples, and the top two Sophomore couples are the Plainsman Court. They are sent to the same studio to have their portraits made. Then, a celebrity judge votes on them, choosing the best looking young man and young woman as Mr. and Miss Plainsman. The judge also picks two couples as the first and second runners-up. This year, the judge was the musical group Boston.

WILDCAT FOOTBALL '78 - '79

As the 1978 Clovis Wildcat football team geared into action, it looked as if the Wildcats would dismember every team they were to encounter. When they took the field against the Los Alamos Toppers in Los Alamos, September 8, Clovis strongly resembled the '73 Wildcat football squad, which won the state championship.

Led by Quarterback Layne Walker, runningbacks Ervin Beachum, Harold Norton, J. R. Huston, and capable receivers like Randy Lyle and Kevin Williams, Clovis shellacked Los Alamos in the season opener. A rugged Wildcat defense, which would be called upon repeatedly throughout the season to shut down any uprising from Clovis adversaries, held the Toppers to -19 yards and relinquished not a single touchdown in Clovis' 41-2 victory.

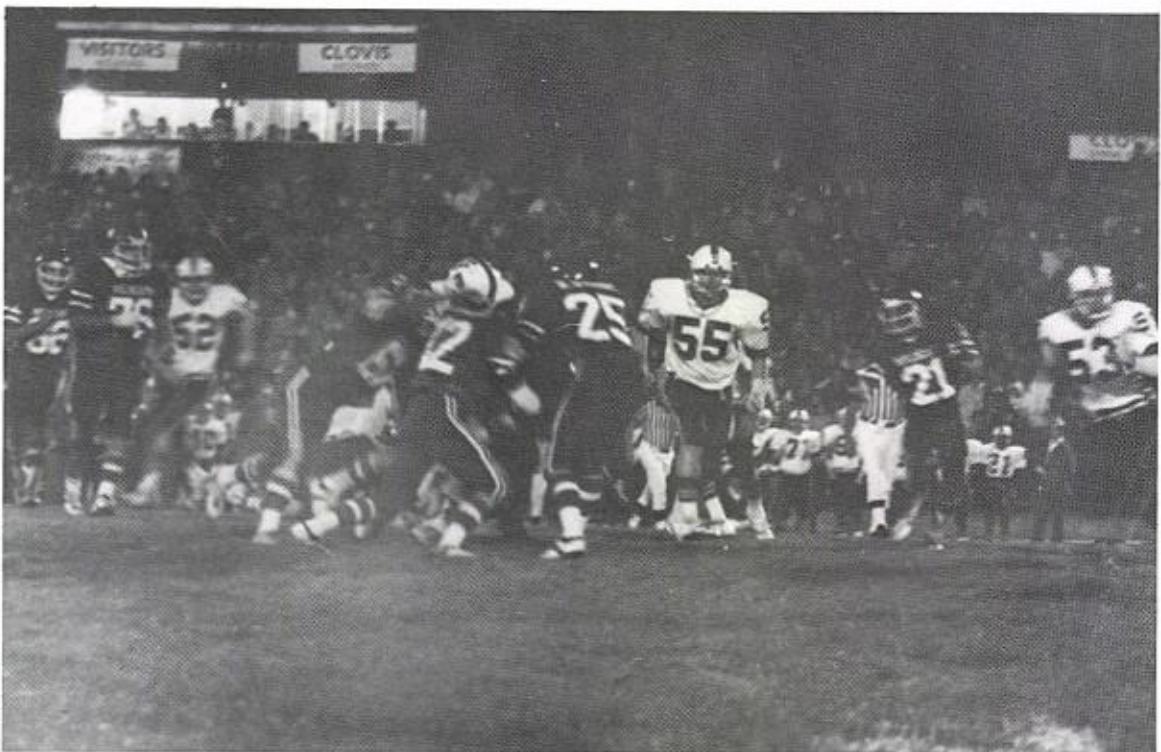

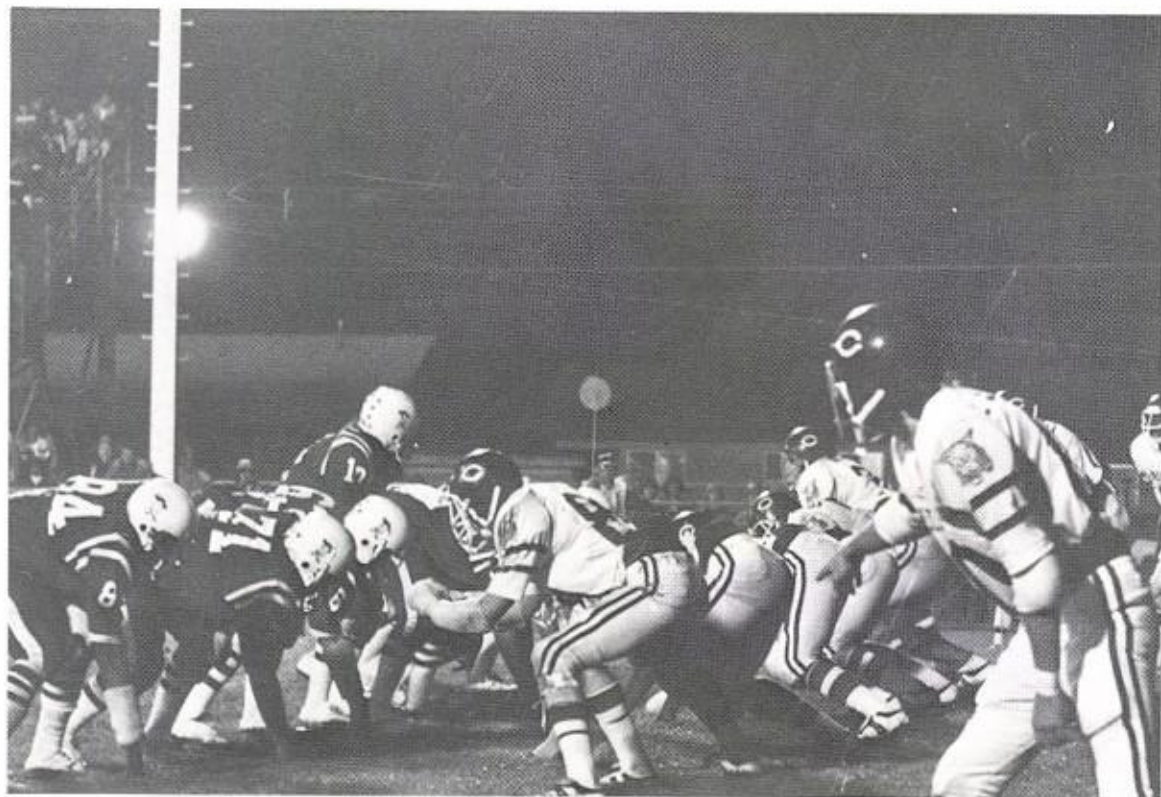

But the months of September and early October struck a demoralizing blow to the Wildcats as they proceeded to drop four consecutive games to stern opponents, including two Texas teams, and posted a meager 1-4 record as they approached the midway mark of the regular season. Clovis' lack of a striking offense caused their defeat by the playoff bound Cibola Cougars 7-6, September 16; the Palo Duro Dons Sept. 22 in a heartbreaking 7-3 defensive battle; the Alamogordo Tigers Sept. 29 in a controversial 14-12 loss; and the Plainview Bulldogs October 6 during which the Wildcats finally regained some of their offensive punch in an 35-26 defeat.

Dramatically, the Wildcats regained their composure and on October 14, returned to preseason expectation by rolling past the Amarillo Sandies 21-16. Two of Clovis' three touchdowns were scored by Gus Williams who had recently rejoined the team after an injury. From then on, it was nothing but victories for the future state champs.

Homecoming brought Clovis a slim victory over the Las Cruces Mayfield Trojans and their star runningback, Roddy Bone who scored all of Mayfield's touchdowns. The 22-20 win gave the Wildcats a 3-4 record as they entered district play.

The Roswell Coyotes were a pushover as Clovis took their first district win 36-0. The Clovis defense held their district opponents to a total of 13 points in four games.

Clovis plowed through their next three district games with wins over the Carlsbad Cavemen 19-0; the Goddard Rockets 35-6; and their old rivals the Hobbs Eagles 19-7 to advance to the playoff against the Cibola Cougars who had beaten them early in the season.

Cibolas' hopes of defeating the Wildcats and advancing to the semifinals of the state playoffs were crashed, though, by the Clovis defense led by Joe Jones, Sammy Martinez, and Paul Joy 29-3 in a game hampered by fog.

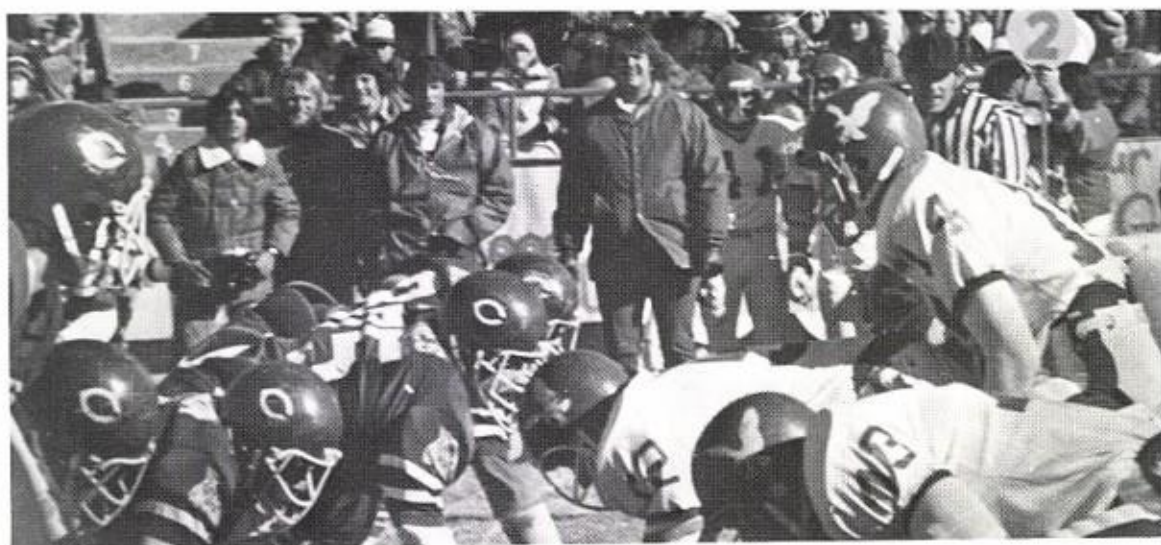

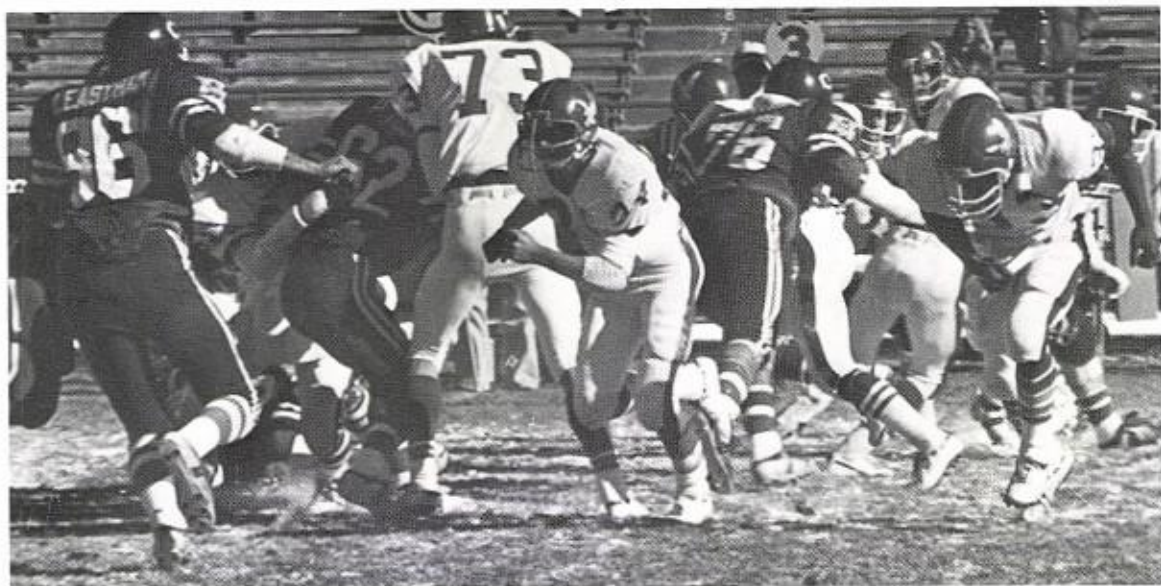

The next victims were the Highland Hornets who had a 21-10 halftime lead. But Ervin Beachum's phenomenal 307 yards and game winning touchdowns gave the Wildcats a 29-21 victory and put them in the New Mexico State AAAA Football Championship.

WILDCATS TAKE STATE!

TWICE IN A ROW!

For the second year in a row, the Clovis Wildcats took the State AAAA Football title in a thrilling last minute finish. Under the guidance of first year head coach Eric Roanhaus and his able assistants, Darrell Bode, Bill Black and Rick Stewart, the Wildcats snapped the victory from the grasp of the Eldorado Eagles in the final moments of the game.

After Eldorado took a 3-0 lead in the third quarter, hopes for a Clovis victory were somewhat dimmed. Roanhaus typified the Wildcats' determination, however, when he later said, "When Eldorado scored, we didn't let it shake us. We knew what we had to do to get back in the game."

The Wildcats did get back into the game by completely stifling the Eagle offense the rest of the game. With only 3:04 left in the game, the Wildcat offense exploded. Quarterback Layne Walker winged a pass to Randy Lyle, placing the Wildcats deep in Eagle Territory. Three plays later, Clovis was on the Eagle 2-yard line with only one down remaining and 1:54 left in the game. The Wildcats could settle for nothing but victory, and on that fourth down halfback Ervin Beachum smashed through the Eagle defense for the touchdown. Walker kicked the PAT. The Eagles tried to regain the lead, but an interception in the final seconds obliterated their chances and left them defeated, 7-3.

Roanhaus later said that the team had prepared for that game just like any other. "We won eight in a row doing what we did best, so we weren't going to change for that game — just do it better," Roanhaus said. "The defense played extremely well the whole game, and the offense played well when they needed to in the last drive."

The way the team came back to win the game was typical of its playing all season. When victory seemed out of the question the Wildcats didn't give up. "With people hurt and, at times, inexperienced we still could come back," Roanhaus said.

With the temperature standing at $^{\circ}15$ and the chill factor at a minus five, the weather obviously played a major role in the game. "It kept both teams from playing their best," Roanhaus said later. "I was concerned with our inability to hang on to the ball," he added. Because of turnovers, Clovis had poor field position several times.

Although this was his first year as head coach, Roanhaus said the victory made him more happy for the players more than for himself. He explained that he was especially happy for the seniors since it was their last year and their winning state would be something they would never forget. "I'll have other chances to win, but it was their last chance to win. I was real happy for them," he said.

This is the second year for girls' competitive volleyball. Although the varsity team played well, the team was still in its building stages. Their defensive effort was strong, but their offensive was weak. They "couldn't seem to put the ball away."

This year, eight team members will graduate and returning will be three senior lettermen, and one junior letterman. The Varsity Wildcats Girls Volleyball team should be congratulated for their efforts.

This year, two members, Patti Watson and Leonie Garcia, were selected for the All Tournament Team. Twelve girls are selected from the five district teams to play on this team. Each girl receives an award.

The Junior Varsity Wilcat Girls' Volleyball Team had eight wins and three losses. This year they placed second in the district they were "good hustlers".

The team wish to express their appreciation for the support of their fans. It is always a boost to the team morale to know that they have student body and community support.

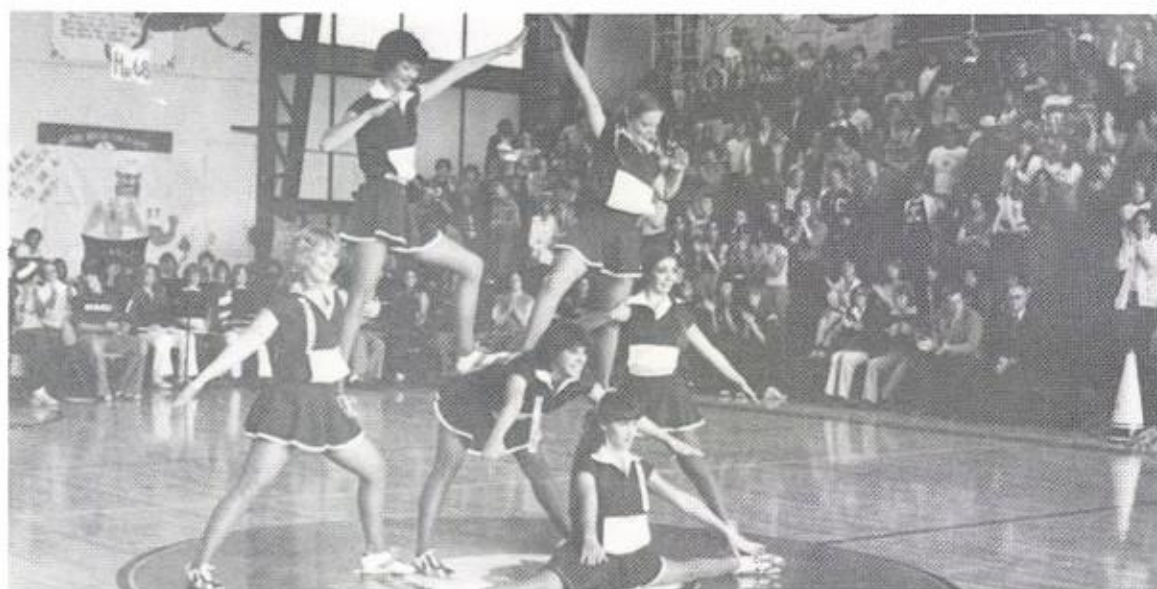

Mrs. Pyle sponsors the varsity cheerleaders. Each year, the cheerleaders hold a week-long clinic, in which girls come and learn the techniques of cheerleading. Then the girls try-out and the best are chosen to be the new cheerleaders for the coming year.

The cheerleaders make all of their own money to finance their activities.

This year, the Clovis High Cheerleaders won the NCA Award of Excellence, which is the best squad out of a state-wide clinic. After basketball season, they go to a state cheerleading competition. The top two teams from the North and South compete and the best from each division choose whether or not they will cheer at the All-state Football game or the Allstate Basketball game. The third place team from each division receives a plaque and an honorable mention. If a team cannot play, for any reason, the third place team replaces them.

This year's varsity cheerleaders were: Callie Robinson, Lynn Schmid, Brenda Vaught, Cenie Cross, Jarilyn Henson, and Micki Taylor.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders cheer at the J.V. games (football and basketball). They attend as many Sophomore games as possible, though it is not required.

The J.V. cheerleaders were elected by the student body and attend a clinic run by the graduating cheerleaders. This year, the Varsity Cheerleaders wanted the J.V. Cheerleaders to be a part of the state football cheerleading squad, so they invited the cheerleaders to cheer with them at the state game.

Wiley Wildcat is the school mascot. Wiley's purpose is to help build spirit at Wildcat games. Wiley travels with the cheerleaders and helps with their moneymaking projects to help pay for their travelling expenses.

Wiley Wildcat for 1978-1979 was Woody Voges. The student body elected Woody for the position in the spring of '78. The tryouts for Wiley were conducted during Student Council elections.

The Wildcadette Drill Team was established in 1972 and has been in existence for seven years. Girls wanting to be a member of the drill team attend a clinic in the spring and are chosen by a panel of judges. They perform as a spirit-raising group at pep rallies, basketball games, and football games. Each year they attend the New Mexico State Drill Team Competition to compete against other drill-teams. In 1976, they received a first place trophy in their division and were runner-ups to sweepstakes. In 1978, they received a first place trophy in their division and were named the sweepstakes winner, the "state championship" of drill teams.

STUDENT COUNCIL

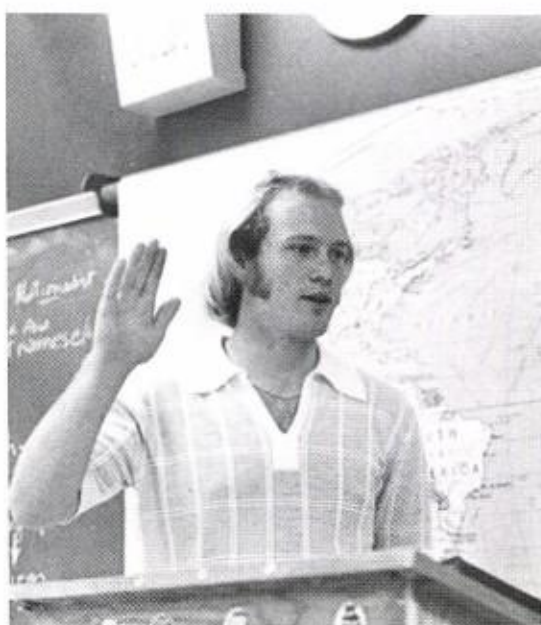

Installation of Representatives

Student Council has represented the students of C.H.S. for twenty years. "We are the vehicle of change," Student Council sponsor, Weldon Kilgough said, as he spoke about the many functions of Student Council.

Some of those functions were sponsoring the homecomings, victory dances, door and banner contests, pep rallies, and the Salvation Army can food drive. They sold many things promoting school spirit like derbies, sun visors, school banners, and school pens and pencils.

Installation of Officers

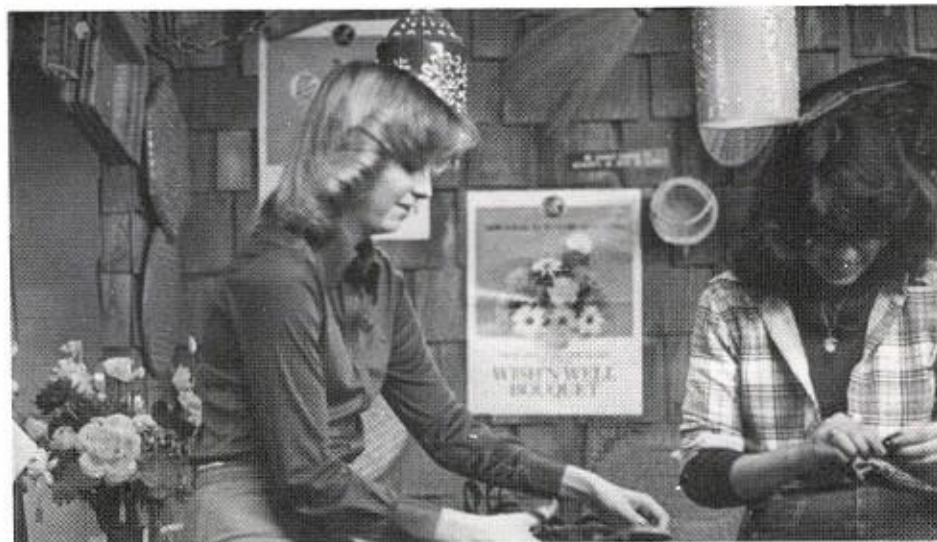

Installation of President

Every year Student Council has a "big" project, go to a convention, and have exchanges. This year instead of one big project they had several smaller projects. One of these projects was donating a set of decorations to the Main Street Christmas decorations. Student Councils from all over New Mexico met in Albuquerque, N.M. for the convention. The exchanges are where members of Student Council go to out-of-town schools when a game is being played there, or the members of a Student Council from another school come to C.H.S. when their team is playing here.

All choirs at Clovis High School are auditioned, that is each member is evaluated on musical ability, vocal quality and attitude. In the past four years the Choral Department has grown from 86 to 142. Last year the choir placed 24 members in the All State Choir, won 96 first division medals at solo and ensemble contest, and received superior ratings at three major festivals. The Concert Choir was also chosen as the Outstanding AAAA Choir at the Durango Fine Arts Festival. In September of this year the Choir was one of seven choirs in Texas and New Mexico to be invited to participate in the West Texas State University Honor Choir Clinic-Festival. My arrival into the world as a newspaper is a process which involves many people, much money and plenty of talent. My birth gives many people delight.

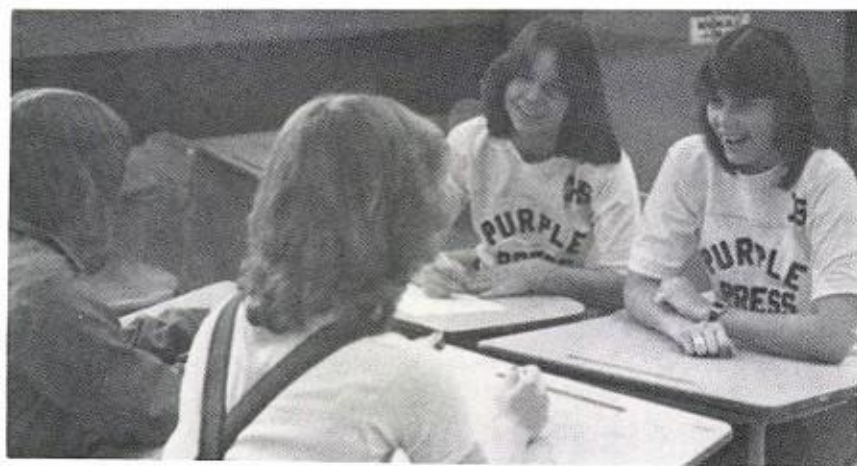

Like all creations, I started as a gleam in my editor's eye.

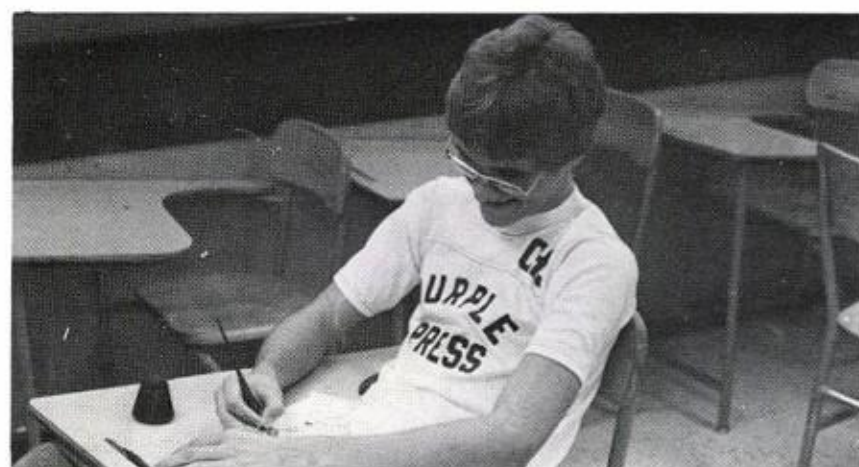

My ad staff sells ads to finance my arrival.

My page editors plan my overall body, making sure I have all the necessary parts.

My reporters plan and gather information for the stories I will tell and the history that my pages will hold.

My artist helps bring out the best in me by highlighting my good points with artwork.

My photographer makes sure I'm photogenic and tries hard to develop me into a good looking newspaper.

My typists are carefull to see that my complexion comes out clear, with no flaws.

My final make — up comes when my page editors and reporters put me together, putting all the pieces in place.

Shown above are two members of the staff Editorial Editor Tracey Kraft and Ad Manager Lorriane Pena inspecting the final product for errors.

THE 1978-79 PLAINSMAN STAFF

The Plainsman Staff began work on the year-book the day school started. During the first three weeks of school, every member of the staff went out and sold ads. Then the making of the annual got underway. Twenty-two layout members divided up the sections and designed the pages. Six photographers, with Tamyra Pierce as head photographer the first semester, took every picture in the year-book. All copy was written by two copywriters, Charlotte Baxter and Belinda Sammons. K'Dawn Clark, who served as editor, designed the opening and closing sections, and the division pages. She also, along with Mr. Byous, supervised the making of the 1978-79 Plainsman.

HIGH AIMS CLUB

Mrs. Muffley was the sponsor for the 1978-79 HI-Ak Club. She said, "You get out of life what you give. HI-Ak is a stepping stone for young women learning to give."

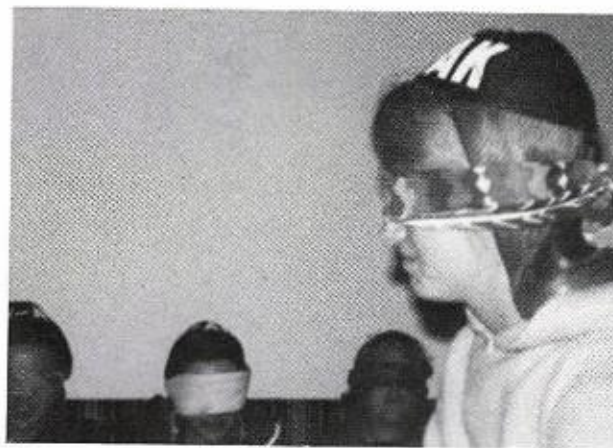

HI-Ak is a non-school sponsored girls club that serves the community. Only sixty girls, thirty seniors and thirty juniors, are allowed into the club yearly. About fifty junior girls try out every year for HI-AK. The senior members vote for the thirty girls they think would best represent HI-AK. After the juniors are voted in, they must go through a pledge week before they are considered members. This pledge week consist of wearing the pledge "garb" to school for one week and attending various activities at night. Some of these activities included going to a football game and dance, visiting the retirement ranch, going rollerskating, attending a movie, and working at a carwash. On the final night of pledge week each junior goes through a Hell Night. The club rules require them to wear number of things some of these being large overalls, peanutbutter under the arms, and bananas and syrup in their socks. The pledges are blindfolded all night and the senior members perform Initiation rites such as throwing eggs at them, covering them with shaving cream, and making them eat onions. At the end of this night each junior must confess all the pledge rules she broke during the week and then she is officially a member of HI-AK.

Hi-AK is a community service organization. They raise money by having raffle ticket sales, dances, and car-washes.

This year Hi-AK helped a needy family on Christmas, helped with several blood drives, donated to the United Way, and visited the retirement ranch on several occasions. Hi-AK also had several social functions. This year they had a Christmas dance, a Valentine prom, and a banquet.
